Dh Goleine

Dh Goleine is a contemporary serif typeface that explores the space between traditional and modern typographic classification. Drawing inspiration from old-style humanist letterforms while embracing the refined characteristics of modern serif design, the typeface combines organic proportions, elegant high-contrast strokes, and balanced letter construction to create a sophisticated visual identity.

Built with carefully balanced proportions, open counters, and flat, unbracketed serifs, Dh Goleine delivers a harmonious reading experience that feels both expressive and timeless. The design avoids excessive ornamentation, instead relying on the natural rhythm of its letterforms and refined structural details to establish a graceful and distinctive typographic texture.

Dh Goleine includes two carefully developed styles: Normal and Italic. The Normal style provides a stable and refined editorial presence, while the Italic style introduces a more dynamic and expressive character inspired by cursive movement. Together, these two styles offer greater flexibility for creating hierarchy, emphasis, and visual contrast across a wide range of design applications.

To further enhance its typographic character, Dh Goleine features beautifully crafted ligatures that create seamless connections between specific letter combinations. Rather than serving as purely decorative elements, these ligatures are thoughtfully integrated into the type system to improve visual flow while preserving the clarity and integrity of each letterform.

True elegance never seeks attention, because refinement comes from subtle confidence rather than excess. A thoughtful balance between softness and structure creates a timeless presence, where every detail feels intentional and every movement remains effortless. Fine textures, delicate lines, and seamless transitions make each statement unique, leaving a gentle impression that becomes unforgettable through grace, finesse, and expressive craftsmanship.
